

A Sunday Recreation Suggestion…

If anyone is interested, we would enjoy leading a short group hike to Eliot Glacier on the NE side of Mt. Hood the Sunday after NwG. The 2.5 mile (round trip) trail begins at the historic Cloud Cap Inn (1889), passes a 1930s CCC climbing shelter, then ascends the lateral moraine of Eliot Glacier to where the above repeat glacier photos were taken. Tentatively leaving Portland at 0900 and returning at 1700, additional sights to be seen could easily include the Columbia River Gorge, Timberline Lodge and a brew pub or two.

Please email Gunnar Johnson (gfj@pdx.edu, subject "NwG Hike") ASAP if you are interested. Depending on interest, we may be able to rent a van and provide transportation (and a designated driver!) for the group.
